

Dressage Test Training Day with Marion Bush Dressage Judge
26th March 2011 at Street Farm Burham

Perfect Condition for Success !

The weather was fair, the arena prepared. The Judge focused, watching every move with an experienced eye.

This was our first Dressage Test together, (Crystal's first ever).

I kept trying to remind myself to stay focused and relaxed. Enjoy the experience, it is a training session!

The horn sounded, 45 seconds to begin. Suddenly nerves flutter, breathe..... will she bend or resist, go straight or drift?

Relief, our minds are working together, its down to me to give accurate aids and direction.... the concentration is intense, whoops, a blip here and a marker past there.

The test is over.

Marion emerges from the Judges car. A smile, kind words of reassurance, she congratulates the positive points. Whatever is needed, her experience offers a tremendous aid to your confidence.

Clear strategies help you and your horse to ultimately perform at your best, whatever level you may be hoping to achieve.

The training session will boost your confidence to tackle those sticky moments and prepare for future success. Thank you Marion for your time, patience and being prepared to share your experience. Thanks also to Wendy Neath at Street Farm for providing and preparing the facilities.

Definitely a training session not to be missed.
